

Notice of document relocation for: <https://glenwing.github.io/docs/CTA-861-F.pdf>

The CTA-861-F standard previously hosted here has been removed due to a DMCA notice filed by the CTA on May 3, 2019. It is apparent that the CTA does not approve of free access to this document.

...which explains why their own website hosts this same document for free public download already:

<https://members.cta.tech/ctaPublicationDetails/?id=11016f33-3422-e811-90ce-0003ff528c1a>

This notice (that you are reading right now) has been uploaded in place of the previously hosted standards document, with the same name ("CTA-861-F.pdf") so that any links to the document posted in the past will see this message with the above link, rather than a frustrating 404 error. Apologies for any inconvenience.

—Glenwing

Update May 9, 2019:

The CTA has apparently decided to remove the hosted copies of their own free standard from their own website, and now have dead links on their website. There seems to be some kind of internal miscommunication regarding whether they want these documents to be publicly accessible or not. Just in case any CTA employees missed the memo, please be aware that your bosses decided to make your entire library of standards free to the public about a year ago:

<https://www.cta.tech/News/Press-Releases/2018/May/CTA-s-Entire-Library-of-Industry-Standards-Now-Fre.aspx>

For people searching for the CTA-861-F standard, it can be downloaded (though slightly less conveniently than a hosted PDF since you have to register an account) here:

<https://members.cta.tech/ctaPublicationDetails/?id=b8c5ab10-3322-e811-90ce-0003ff528c1a>

Regards,
—Glenwing